

Heart Foundation support for occupational health nurses

The Heart Foundation's mission is to stop all people in New Zealand dying prematurely from heart disease and enable those with heart disease to live full lives.

We'd like to develop a working relationship with occupational health nurses to help achieve our mission and support quality practice and heart healthcare within the workplace.

We offer:

- free eLearning professional development courses on a range of cardiac topics
- a nurse-led phone line, available to the community and heathcare professionals
- presentations and training for occupational health staff or for your workforce
- online My Heart Check tool for cardiovascular disease risk assessment
- resources to support people at risk of or who've had a heart event, and those living with a heart condition.

For more detail, contact a local heart healthcare advocate or one of our nurses, or visit the heartfoundation.org.nz
